

MARKETVIEW

THE MOST COMPLETE DATA SOURCE FOR YOUR PRICING DECISIONS, PRESENTED IN FLEXIBLE AND MODERN DISPLAYS

WHY NOW?

Historical supply and demand scenarios are no longer relevant and cannot be relied on to make optimal pricing decisions. Resources are stretched thin and the pressure to stimulate demand and win business is at its peak. Pricing analysts need clear visibility of real-time market conditions to make timely and accurate decisions.

If you aim to stay competitive in the current market while saving time and resources—then MarketView is right for you.

THE MOST COMPLETE AND ACCURATE DATA

Being able to trust your data is critical for making good decisions.

MarketView is a single source of all available public fares and your own private data and fare by rule data, along with the associated rules, footnotes, fees, surcharges, and taxes that make up the total price of the offer. All data comes directly from the source and reflects the most accurate representation of fare and its provisions.

SEE MARKET CHANGES AS THEY HAPPEN

There are two ways you can be among the first to see market changes:

- Use MarketView's Change Monitoring features to detect and download changes in fares, footnotes, rules, and carrier-imposed fees: the total price.
- Set up email alerts to get notified when competitive pricing action is happening.

SAVE TIME AND RESOURCES

Choose the right tools for your task so you can save your valuable time and resources to focus on what really matters.

Airlines who use the Change Monitoring feature in MarketView reported more than 2 hours and 25% saving of their time and resources.

With an easy-to-use interface, training and onboarding are simple and don't require any heavy integrations, so your analysts can quickly extract value and drive informed pricing decisions.
